YOU ARE INVITED

to an Update of the Santa Barbara Declaration of Environmental Rights
(An evening of deep collaboration
& activist thinking)

Nearly 50 years ago, a massive oil spill in the Santa Barbara Channel caught national attention and led to the formation of federal policies and local organizations that continue to this day. Many have said that the January 28, 1969 oil spill launched the modern environmental movement.

Soon after this catastrophic event, a group of emerging environmental leaders developed the Santa Barbara Declaration of Environmental Rights as a tool to inspire action.

As we commemorate the 50th anniversary of this historic event, we invite you to join us to revise this statement, to re-inspire a new generation of activists committed to the care and protection of Mother Earth. We request a couple of hours of your time for an evening of relationship building and meaningful conversations as we provide input into an updated draft of the Declaration of Environmental Rights.

WHEN AND WHERE
Tuesday, November 27, 2018
5pm – 8pm
Impact Hub Chapala Center
1221 Chapala St., SB 93101

Dinner included, more details below.

FACILITATOR
Dr. Roberto Vargas

EVENT HOSTS
Community Environmental Council
Environmental Defense Center
Get Oil Out!
UCSB Dept. of Environmental Studies
UCSB Library

DETAILS
Buffet dinner will be served at 5pm. Program will start at 5:30.
Please bring a reusable bottle for the on-site filtered tap water.
Parking is available on the street or in the city lot across the street.
Please do not park in the lots adjacent to the building.

RSVP to Kathi King, kking@cecmail.org or 805-963-0583 x108 by November 20.